National Systems Corporation, October 1972	1-6981
Weatherby Nasco, Inc., January 1973	0-3850

The net working capital of nonfinancial U.S. corporations rose $5.3 billion during the fourth quarter of 1972. This gain in working capital compares with increases of $3.9 billion in both the previous quarter and the final quarter of 1971. This represents the ninth consecutive quarterly gain in working capital. For the year 1972, net working capital increased $19.7 billion in contrast to $16.8 billion in 1971 and $2.2 billion in 1970. Net working capital, which represents corporate investment in current assets in excess of current liabilities, totaled $224.4 billion at the close of 1972.

Fourth Quarter Changes in Current Assets and Current Liabilities

An increase of $15.9 billion was recorded for total current assets in the closing quarter of 1972. Accounting for $6.4 billion of this increment was trade notes and accounts receivable, which was the largest increase in this account since the third quarter of 1969. Inventories rose $3.0 billion in the September-December period.

Traditional fourth quarter increases in holdings of cash and U.S. Government securities were again evidenced by respective gains of $3.0 billion and $2.1 billion. The ratio of these two items combined to total current liabilities--a frequently used measure of corporate liquidity--was 21.2 percent at the end of December 1972 as compared with 19.9 percent for the previous quarter and 21.1 percent a year earlier.

On the other side of the balance sheet, total current liabilities increased $10.6 billion. This increase reflected a $9.3 billion rise in trade notes and accounts payable, although a $1.4 billion decrease in short-term bank debt is included in this latter item. Yearend Federal income tax liabilities showed an increase of $1.7 billion, while the "other current liabilities" category rose only $0.3 billion. Advances and prepayments by the U.S. Government decreased $0.7 billion.

Manufacturing corporations increased their net working capital $4.4 billion in the final quarter of 1972. This increase by the manufacturing sector accounted for 83 percent of the gain in net working capital for all nonfinancial U.S. corporations. The trade sector recorded a moderate gain, while the gas and communications industries showed slight decreases. The other sectors displayed insignificant change in the September-December period.

Annual Changes in Current Assets and Current Liabilities - 1972

The $19.7 billion rise in net working capital for the entire year 1972 was the result of a large increase in total current assets, while the annual increase in total current liabilities offset approximately 56 percent of this gain. Current assets increased $44.6 billion in 1972 compared to $26.1 billion in 1971 and $17.0 billion in 1970. Current liabilities increased $24.9 billion in 1972 compared to $9.3 billion in 1971 and $14.8 billion in 1970.

Other notes and accounts receivable increased $21.4 billion in 1972, accounting for nearly half of the increase in current assets. The cash item gained $5.0 billion; inventories increased $15.1 billion, and "other current assets" rose $3.9 billion in 1972.

On the liabilities side, notes and accounts payable rose $14.1 billion in 1972 compared to $2.3 billion in 1971. "Other current liabilities" increased $9.5 billion, and Federal income tax liabilities increased $2.2 billion in 1972. U.S. Government advances and prepayments decreased $0.9 billion reflecting a pattern of decline over the past three years.

1972 Investments and Sources of Financing

In 1972 corporations invested about $86 billion for additions to plant and equipment within the United States and nearly $17 billion in other noncurrent assets including residential structures and fixed assets of foreign subsidiaries. In order to finance these long-term investments along with net working capital, corporations generated nearly $77.7 billion or 64 percent of the required financing from internal sources--depreciation and retained earnings--compared with 61 percent in 1971. This year external financing consisted of $12.6 billion from the net sales of debt securities, down from $18.7 billion the preceding year; $10.9 billion was provided by net new stock issues. Long-term bank and mortgage loans provided the balance of about $20.8 billion.

The accompanying table contains the aggregate estimates of current assets and current liabilities of U.S. corporations.

1/ Year-end data for this series are based on Statistics of Income data through 1969, which cover virtually all corporations in the United States. Statistics of Income data may not be strictly comparable from year to year because of changes in the tax laws, basis for filing returns, and processing the data for compilation purposes. All interim quarterly data and year-end estimates after 1969 are based on data compiled from many different sources, including data on corporations registered with this Commission.

2/ Includes time certificates of deposit.

3/ Includes Federal agency issues.

4/ Receivables from and payable to the U. S. Government do not include amounts offset against each other on corporations' books or amounts arising from subcontracting which are not directly due from or to the U. S. Government. Wherever possible, adjustments have been made to include U. S. Government advances offset against inventories on corporations' books.

5/ Includes marketable investments (other than Government securities and time certificates of deposit) as well as sundry current assets.

NOTE: Figures are rounded and will not necessarily add to totals.
